

CRAVAT/TRIANGULAR BANDAGE FOR A FULLY KITTED-OUT SOLDIER

The demands of the modern battlefield have soldiers carrying more weight than ever before. That's why Tactical Operations groups choose Chinook's cravat over others, for it's size and strength.

It's the largest and strongest cravat/triangular bandage available. A fully kitted-out soldier will be adequately fitted for a sling, splint, or bandage.

Many bandages fray and rip during rewrapping, reconfiguring or when using it as a tourniquet. Not Chinook's. We've increased the durability and strength by reinforcing the edges.

Measuring 46" x 46" x 65" it also allows for proper length during improvised tourniquet use.

PRODUCT NO. #05001

BENEFITS & FEATURES:

- Berry Amendment compliant / Made in USA
- Largest product available; fits around a fully kitted soldier
- Surged Edges for increased strength and durability
- Improved tourniquet fold; ready straight out of package
- Used as a sling, bandage, improvised tourniquet or to secure a splint
- Made of 50/50 Polyester/Cotton Blend
- Includes two safety pins

Dimensions: 4.5" x 3" x 0.75"; 46" x 46" x 65" Open **

Weight: 2 oz **

CONTENTS:

- (1) 46" x 46" x 65" surged edge Berry Compliant Cravat/Triangular Bandage, vacuum-sealed
- (2) #3 US-made Nickel-Plated Safety Pins

Approximate

Not made with natural rubber latex.

